

Coherence and the Textual Function in the Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time

By Marieke Jochimsen

GRIN Verlag. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 28 pages. Dimensions: 8.5in. x 5.4in. x 0.3in. Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Linguistics, grade: 2, 0, University of Mnster (Englisches Seminar), course: Systemic Functional Linguistics, language: English, abstract: Wherever we look, we see language constituting the world . . . , not just reflecting it. For instance, the words for colours make a reality, they dont just name things which are there: the spectrum isnt divided into seven primary colours; all the colours merge into one another. According to structural linguistics, by using language, we are not reflecting a given reality but are rather construing one. Systemic functional grammar, developed by M. A. K. Halliday, states just this construal feature of language as well: That language functions to make meanings (and not to only refer to the outside world). But furthermore elaborates on how a text makes those meanings. It focuses therefore on the functional description of language. The basic assumption is that language use is always functional: people do not just talk or just write2 but rather any use of language serves a specific purpose, namely to make meanings. The primary concern...
